COMMENCEMENT

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT CHAPEL HILL

Sunday, May Twelfth,
Nineteen Hundred and Ninety-One

C378
UL 1
1991-94

Greetings From The Chancellor

CONGRATULATIONS ON THE ACCOMPLISHMENT THAT BRINGS YOU TO THE 189th Commencement Exercises of The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Degree candidates, relatives, faculty, friends, alumni—all share in the special joy and pride we today celebrate and honor.

The achievements of today's degree recipients represent the University's greatest promise. I challenge each of you receiving a degree today to distinguish yourself as a member of the Carolina family, carrying the reputation of UNC-Chapel Hill through your activities and accomplishments.

You embody the elements of a sound and varied education: a critical mind, a discerning spirit, high values, a sense of commitment, and the privilege of service.

Allow me to add a personal note about service. Not only is service a privilege, it is a noble calling. Be mindful that education is for a higher purpose than economic well-being. It instills within you the realization that success will be measured in part by your commitment to community and by the desire to make possible opportunities that meet or exceed those that others made possible for you.

To the parents, faculty, counselors, religious leaders, and friends who have encouraged and challenged the students assembled here, sincere thanks for fostering the spirit, intellect and imagination that brought today's honorees to this moment.

For those departing from Chapel Hill with well-earned degrees, you are joining a great family of Carolina alumni working together to make a difference around the world.

Most sincerely,

Paul Hardin

ORIGINS OF "HARK THE SOUND"

The Words of "Hark the Sound," UNC's alma mater song, were written in 1897 by William Starr Myers, a graduating senior. The Glee Club director asked Myers to put words to the tune "Amici," and the song was first performed on June 2, 1897, as part of the Glee Club's Commencement performance in Gerrard Hall.

Soon the song was almost completely forgotten. When a University quartet tried a few years later to remember the words, they could recollect only the first verse and the chorus of Myers' original version. Two members of the quartet, Charles S. Mangum and Charles T. Woollen (later a professor in the UNC Medical School and business manager and controller of UNC, respectively) added two verses of their own to the one they remembered.

The words of "Hark the Sound" that we sing today therefore are the work of these three men.

Alma Mater Song

Hark, the sound of Tar Heel voices
Ringing clear and true,
Singing Carolina's praises,
Shouting N.C.U!

Hail to the brightest star of all!
Clear its radiance shine!
Carolina, priceless gem,
Receive all praises thine.

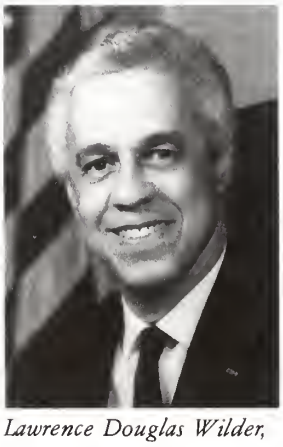
Paul Hardin, Chancellor

CHANCELLOR
PAUL HARDIN

PAUL HARDIN, seventh chancellor of The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, is widely recognized as one of the foremost leaders in American higher education today.

Hardin continues to advance the University's time-honored mission of vital teaching, cutting-edge research, and distinguished public service. His chief goal is to ensure that Carolina remains among the nation's finest public research universities.

Hardin has served as a university chancellor or college president since 1968. The North Carolina native came to Chapel Hill in July 1988 after 13 years as president of Drew University in Madison, N.J. He was president of Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, from 1972 to 1974, and president of Wofford College in Spartanburg, S.C., from 1968 to 1972.



Lawrence Douglas Wilder, Governor of Virginia

Hardin, who was named one of the nation's 100 most effective university presidents in a 1987 study, has provided leadership to numerous international and national education-related organizations. He co-chaired the Japan-U.S. Conference of University Presidents and was a member of the Board of Higher Education in New Jersey and the Board of Directors of the National Association of Independent Colleges and Universities. He twice served as president of the National Association of Schools and Colleges of the United Methodist Church, and was chairman of the National Commission on United Methodist Higher Education. Nationally, Hardin is active on many fronts. Among the most visible issues is athletic reform.

Hardin was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate in English at Duke University in 1952. He earned his law degree from Duke in 1954 and practiced law briefly in Alabama before returning to Duke in 1958 to teach. He holds seven honorary degrees. Born in Charlotte, Hardin and his wife, Barbara, call several places in North Carolina home because they were the children of Methodist ministers.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER
LAWRENCE DOUGLAS WILDER

VIRGINIA'S LAWRENCE DOUGLAS WILDER is the nation's first black governor. Virginia voters elected Wilder to a four-year term in November 1989. The Washington Post endorsed Wilder, calling him "an uncommon figure in contemporary politics (because) he has not ridden the media to his present position, but has worked his way up."

In office for over a year, Wilder's administration has led initiatives to improve access to education, attract new businesses to the state, and crack down on illegal drugs and related crimes. Another priority has been a drug prevention and education program for public schools. Wilder has emphasized fiscal responsibility. He persuaded the legislature to establish the largest reserve fund in the state's history as part of a comprehensive plan to deal with a $2 billion budget shortfall.

Before becoming governor, Wilder served four years as lieutenant governor and chaired the Virginia Advisory Legislative Council and the Democratic Steering Committee. He served five terms from 1969 to 1985 in the Virginia Senate and consistently was ranked among the most effective state officials by the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot for his work as chairman of committees dealing with transportation, rehabilitation and social services, and privileges and elections.

Wilder is a founder and former partner of the Richmond-based law firm Wilder, Gregory and Martin, now known as Wilder and Gregory. He is a member of the American Bar Association, the National Bar Association, and the National Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers. He is a permanent member of the Judicial Conference of the Fourth Circuit.

He served in Korea with the U.S. Army and was awarded the Bronze Star for heroism in ground combat. A native of Richmond, Wilder graduated from Virginia Union University in 1951 and earned a law degree from Howard University in 1959.

Doctor of Letters

DR. FEDERICO GUILLERMO GIL IS Kenan professor emeritus of political science at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and an internationally known pioneer in Latin American political science studies.

He retired from the University faculty in 1980 after 37 years of service that included directing the Institute of Latin American Studies, one of the nation's premier centers for training and investigation, from 1959 to 1983. The institute's undergraduate curriculum twice was ranked the nation's best during Gil's tenure. He still heads the institute's Spanish exchange program, co-directs the undergraduate honors thesis program, and reviews master's theses and doctoral dissertations.

Gil has written several classic works on Latin America, including "The Governments of Latin America," "Latin American-United States Relations" and "The Political System of Chile," which is the major work on Chile published in English. Many of his books have been adopted as texts and published in Spanish and other languages. He has edited other scholarly publications and served on many editorial boards.

Gil's role in public affairs also has been significant. He helped develop the framework for President John F. Kennedy's "Alliance for Progress" and served as consultant and adviser to international organizations such as the United Nations, the Inter-American Development Bank, and the Peace Corps.

His many University honors include being recognized by the College of Arts and Sciences in 1988 with an endowed chair bearing his name. He is a recipient of the Nicholas Salgo Award for Distinguished Undergraduate Teaching and a member of the Order of the Golden Fleece, a student honorary society. Through his bequest, Gill has created the Federico Gil Distinguished Visiting Professorship of Latin American Politics, which will bring top Latin American scholars to teach in the Department of Political Science. He donated his personal library of 5,000 items to the University in 1979.

In his field, Gil received the Latin American Studies Association's Kalman Silvert Award for lifetime contributions to Latin American studies. He helped found the association and served as its president. Gil was named Knight Commander of the Order of Merit Bernardo O'Higgins, the Chilean government's highest award, and is an honorary faculty member at the University of Chile. He was one of the first two North Americans admitted to the National Academy of Law and Social Sciences of Argentina and is a 1985 recipient of an honorary degree from Rollins College, where he teaches each winter as the first Alfred Hanna Distinguished Professor of Latin American Studies.

A native of Cuba, Gil earned a bachelor's degree at the Instituto de la Habana in 1935. He also received three graduate degrees in law and political science from the University of Havana before coming to the United States in 1942.

Doctor of Letters

DR. ARCHIE GREEN IS PROFESSOR emeritus at the University of Texas and a leading proponent of the preservation of folklore in the United States today.

Green, who specializes in research about worker's traditions, has contributed significantly to the study of vernacular culture and folklore in Chapel Hill and across the nation.

In 1983, for example, his efforts helped the University acquire the John Edwards Memorial Collection, a major research collection of early commercial recording of traditional music which is the core of the University's Southern Folklife Collection. (Green was one of the founders of the John Edwards Memorial Foundation.) He later donated his personal collection of rare books, interviews, recording, albums, and manuscripts to the University's Southern Folklife Collection and Manuscripts Department.

Green also was instrumental in establishing two endowment funds at the University. In 1988, he and record-collector Eugene Earle started the John Edwards Memorial Collection Fund, which helps maintain the Southern Folklife Collection. With his wife, Louanne, Green created the Archie Green Fund for Occupational Folklore Studies, which funds scholarships for University graduate students researching occupational lore and workers' culture.

Before his retirement in 1982, Green's teaching career included service on the faculties of the University of Illinois, Ohio State University, and the University of Louisville. He was a senior staff associate at the AFL-CIO Labor Studies Center in Washington, D.C., where he expanded the Smithsonian Institution's Festival of American Folklife to include worker's traditions. He was instrumental in the 1976 passage of the American Folklife Preservation Act, which led to the creation of the American Folklife Center in the Library of Congress.

Green's published works include "Only a Miner: Studies in Recorded Coal-Mining Songs," the first book to use commercial recording to explore the culture of an important American work group. His research also has focused on traditional performers in the American South. That work has resulted in recordings such as "Babies in the Mill," a collection of songs from textile workers including a Rockingham, N.C., family. Green's "Wobblies, Pile Butts, & Other Spinners: Laborlore Explorations" is scheduled for release later this year by the University of Illinois Press.

The American Folklore Society honored Green in 1989 with a special award for leadership in public folklife.

A native of San Francisco, Green earned a bachelor's degree from the University of California at Berkeley in 1939. He later received a master's degree in library science from the University of Illinois and a doctoral degree in folklore and folklife from the University of Pennslyvania.

CHARLES BISHOP KURALT
Doctor of Letters

CHARLES BISHOP KURALT IS A correspondent for CBS News and an alumnus of The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Still active after 34 years with the network, Kuralt spends weekdays traveling the country for his "On the Road" series and returns to Manhattan on weekends to anchor CBS News' "Sunday Morning."

The "On the Road" stories have won Kuralt such prestigious broadcasting honors as the George Foster Peabody Award three times, nine Emmy Awards from the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, and the Missouri Honor Medal for Lifetime Accomplishments in Journalism. He was named 1983 "Broadcaster of the Year" by the International Radio and Television Society. Time magazine has described him as "the laureate of the common man."

"Sunday Morning," which Kuralt has anchored since it began in 1979, has been praised for breaking new ground in broadcast journalism. He regularly contributes to CBS News coverage of special events, often finding the "little stories" that help viewers identify with great events.

In his early days at CBS News, Kuralt reported from far corners of the world. His travels are detailed in two of his six books, the 1985 best-seller, "On The Road With Charles Kuralt" and a more detailed memoir, "A Life On the Road."

Kuralt began his career as a reporter and columnist at The Charlotte News, where he won the Ernie Pyle Award in 1956. A year later, he joined CBS News as a writer, was promoted to the news assignment desk, then became a CBS News Correspondent in 1959. In 1960, he became the first host of the CBS News prime-time series, "Eyewitness." The following year, he became CBS News Latin American Correspondent.

In 1963, he was named Chief West Coast Correspondent, based in Los Angeles. A year later he returned to CBS News headquarters in New York City. Then he began traveling on the back roads, which had been largely unexplored on television news. He interrupted his journeys in 1980 and 1981 to anchor "Morning With Charles Kuralt" on weekdays. His reports continue to be regular features of the "CBS Evening News With Dan Rather" and are seen on occasional prime-time specials.

Charles Bishop Kuralt

Kuralt maintains close ties to the University and especially the School of Social Work. He has devoted much of his recent free time to raising money for the school, which has honored his father, a 1931 alumnus and the retired director of the Mecklenburg County Department of Social Services, by establishing the Wallace Hamilton Kuralt Professorship in Social Work.

The University already recognized Kuralt's accomplishments with a Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1972. He was among the inaugural inductees in the N.C. Journalism Hall of Fame. He also was the featured speaker at the University's Commencement in 1985.

The Wilmington, N.C., native studied at the University from 1951 to 1955, majoring in American history. He edited The Daily Tar Heel and received the Ernest H. Abernethy Award for excellence in student journalism. He earned membership in the Orders of the Old Well, Grail, and Golden Fleece.

NOTES ON ACADEMIC DRESS

THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION, condensed from "An Academic Costume Code and Ceremony Guide" and prepared by the American Council on Education, may prove helpful in identifying the costumes you will see in the Academic Procession.

The history of academic dress reaches far back to the European Middle Ages and the earliest days of the oldest universities when scholars were clerics. Capes with attached hoods and warm caps were needed to combat the cold of drafty buildings. The desire for a uniform appearance ("well born, well turned-out, and somewhat learned," read one medieval formula) and for marks to distinguish bachelors, masters and doctors led to the development of the costume we know today.

When in 1895 American colleges and universities decided to standardize academic dress in this country, a conference was held at Columbia University. There, representatives from various institutions drew up a common code that, with modifications made in 1959, is still in force. The costumes, colors, trimmings and patterns you see are all traditional, and refer both to the specific degree and the field of study.

The bachelor's gown, designed to be worn closed, has pointed sleeves. The master's gown, which may be worn open or closed, has an oblong sleeve, open at the wrist, that hangs down nearly to the ground; the back part of its oblong shape is square cut and the front part has the arc cut away. The doctor's gown may be worn open or closed, and has bell-shaped sleeves.

Bachelors' and masters' gowns are untrimmed. Doctors' gowns are usually faced with black velvet, with three bars across the sleeves, although the color of the velvet may vary depending on the field of study. Hoods, which differ in length for the three degrees, are lined with the official colors of the university or college that conferred the degree, usually with one color forming a chevron pattern over the other. Some of the colors you will see on faculty and administrators' robes are: the crimson of Harvard, the maroon of Chicago, the light blue and white of North Carolina, the orange and black of Princeton, and the dark blue of Yale.

Hoods also are edged and bound with velvet in the color appropriate to the field of study. You will see many hoods in our procession edged with dark blue, for doctor of philosophy (Ph.D.). The colors in the hoods and gowns of our faculty represent the following fields in which degrees were taken:

Apricot:	Nursing
Brown:	Fine Arts
Citron:	Social Work
Crimson:	Journalism
Dark Blue:	Philosophy
Golden Yellow:	Science
Green:	Medicine
Lemon-Yellow:	Library Science
Light Blue:	Education
Lilac:	Dentistry
Olive-Green:	Pharmacy
Orange:	Engineering
Pink:	Music
Purple:	Law
Sage Green:	Physical Education
Salmon Pink:	Public Health
Scarlet:	Theology
Yellow-Brown:	Commerce, Business, Accountancy
White:	Arts, Letters, Humanities

UNC: The First State University?

The University of North Carolina had its foundation in the N.C. state constitution of 1776, with its statement that, "All useful learning shall be duly encouraged and promoted in one or more universities."

UNC's charter was approved in 1789. The cornerstone of Old East was laid in 1793, and the University opened its doors for students in 1795.

The University of Georgia at Athens also claims the honor of "first state University." While Georgia's constitution of 1777 lays no foundation for state-supported higher education, the university was chartered in 1785, four years before UNC.

However, The University of Georgia did not open until 1801, six years after Hinton James enrolled as the first student at The University of North Carolina. Hence, those who claim the honor of "first state university" for Georgia refer to its charter date.

UNC's claim as "first state university" celebrates its being the first state University to open its doors for students.

Why Is This the 189th Commencement?

The 1991 commencement is UNC's 189th commencement ceremony. This would seem strange for a University that held its first commencement in 1798, but the aftermath of the Civil War caused the annual ceremony to be interrupted.

From 1798 until 1870 there were annual commencements, though in 1870 students were promoted to higher classes, but no degrees were awarded. The University was closed from 1871–1875, so there were no ceremonies.

The annual tradition of commencement began again in 1876 with the reopening of the University. While there were no seniors to receive degrees in 1876, there have been 116 annual commencements since that time.

Thus the Class of 1991, graduating in the 202nd year of the University's charter, receives its degrees in the 189th commencement ceremony.

THE SCHOOL OF LAW

Established 1843

Presented by
Dean Judith Welch Wegner

†Indicates probable candidates for the degree of Juris Doctor with Honors, Juris Doctor with High Honors, or Juris Doctor with Highest Honors.

The degree of JD with Honors is awarded to students who: complete the requirements for the JD degree; attain a weighted average grade of 3.0 or more, or the top third, on all law courses taken; and meet a writing requirement of publishable materials.

The degree of JD with High Honors is awarded to students who complete all requirements for the JD with Honors and who, in the judgment of the faculty, have demonstrated superior legal scholarship in their work.

In certain instances, the degree of Juris Doctor with highest honors may be awarded in recognition of exceptionally high performance.

The First UNC Diploma

In September 1796, Davie Gillespie, a University student, left UNC to be part of the group determining the Southern boundary of the United States. His instructors felt Gillespie should carry proof that he had been a member of the student body of The University of North Carolina. The document, which now resides in the Library of Congress, was signed by his professors and concluded, "We thought it proper to give him this certificate."

Commencement at Carolina was a time for examinations and promotions to higher classes. Therefore, there were several years at the beginning of the University when there was a commencement, but no degrees awarded. In other words, there was a commencement, but no graduation.

1798 saw the first official graduating class of the University. It included Hinton James, the first student to enroll. Seven gentlemen received the first documents that by today's standards can be called UNC diplomas. One of the original diplomas is in the Southern Historical Collection in Wilson Library.

THE UNC-CHAPEL HILL CHANCELLOR

UNC-Chapel Hill's chief executive officer has been called "chancellor" for the last half of the twentieth century. How that title, rather than president, came to be used is a process that began in 1931.

The Great Depression left the State of North Carolina strapped for funds. The General Assembly sought to save money by reorganizing state government. The most significant of the reorganization measures to come from the 1931 legislature was the consolidation of the three state-supported institutions of higher learning: The North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering (now North Carolina State University in Raleigh), The North Carolina College for Women (now The University of North Carolina at Greensboro), and The University of North Carolina located in Chapel Hill.

Framers of the consolidated university considered it to be one school and recommended that it have one chief executive officer, one controller, one administrative council, one director of Summer School, one director of extension work, and one director of graduate studies. They imagined a three-campus university among which faculty and other resources would move as needed.

A new Board of Trustees, created by the consolidation law, accepted these suggestions but amended the name of the chief executive officer of the three campuses to president. On November 14, 1932, they filled this new position with the president of the Chapel Hill campus, Frank Porter Graham. The other two campus leaders were called vice-presidents. The Chapel Hill campus never filled the position of vice-president. Graham acted both as head of the Chapel Hill campus and the consolidated system.

In 1934, in order to better reflect the idea of "one university with three campuses" the vice presidents in Greensboro and Raleigh had their titles changed to deans of administration. The Chapel Hill campus received a dean of administration at that time. They soon found that the title was misleading. The University of North Carolina's deans of administration had as much responsibility as the presidents of old, yet that was impossible for their peers to know from the titles. In 1945 the deans of administration became chancellors in order to better reflect their responsibilities. The chief executive officer of the consolidated University of North Carolina remained the president.

Tradition and the attachment of North Carolinians to their Alma Maters kept the consolidation efforts of the 1930s from going as far as the system's creators had hoped. By the 1940s it was obvious that each campus would remain, for the most part, an autonomous unit with a chancellor at its head. In 1971, the General Assembly redefined The University of North Carolina, including all sixteen public senior institutions as constituent institutions of The University of North Carolina.

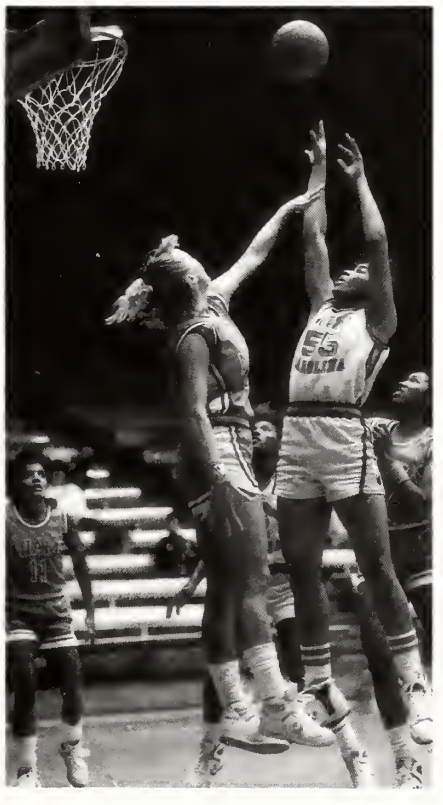
Origin of the University Colors

Light blue and white have been considered the University's colors for just over a century—although the tradition now is so firmly established that a popular bumper sticker asks about God's decision to use "Carolina Blue" for the color of the sky!

A symbol of unity among Carolina students, alumni and fans, the school colors began around 1800 as emblems of factional division between members of Dialectic and Philanthrophic Literary Societies. Through the 19th century, students were required to be members of either the Di or the Phi. The Di's color was light blue, and the Phi's was white.

At University commencements, balls, and other social events, the student officials, managers and marshals would wear the color of their society, blue or white. Since the Chief Marshal or Chief Ball Manager had to represent the whole student body, not just his society, he would wear both colors.



When intercollegiate athletics were introduced at UNC in 1888, the question of what colors to wear became important. The choice already had been made, since light blue and white had come to symbolize membership in the University, not in a single society.

The University Seal

The first seal of The University of North Carolina, designed in 1790, showed the face of Apollo and his emblem, the rising sun, symbolizing the dawn of higher education in the state. Surrounding this were the words "SIGUL UNIVERSITAT CAROL SEPTENT" (Seal of The University of North Carolina).

A modification in 1895 added lighted torches of learning beside Apollo's profile, and two years later a further alteration replaced the head of Apollo with a shield in which the words "Lux" (light) and "Libertas" (liberty) appeared, separated by a white band running from the upper right to the lower left of the shield.

In the 1940s some people mistakenly came to believe that the white stripe on the shield was a "bend sinister," a heraldic code that was demeaning. In truth, the stripe was a "bar sinister" and denoted simply a second or later son. Still, the direction of the stripe was reversed, thereby removing any possible stigma.

Today the seal is the same as the 1897 design, but the stripe on the shield runs from the upper left to the lower right.

Graduation "With Distinction"

Undergraduate students in Academic Affairs or Health Affairs who graduate with at least a 3.5 overall grade point average have the recognition "with Distinction" added to their diplomas.

Those who take at least 45 hours of undergraduate coursework at Carolina and who earn a 3.8 or better overall grade point average have their diplomas inscribed "with Highest Distinction." This designation provides uniform, University-wide recognition of sustained high-level undergraduate performance.

*In the listing of candidates for Baccalaureate degrees, the * symbol indicates a student who is a probable candidate for a degree with distinction based on grade point average going into the final semester.*

CLASS OF 1991 GIFT

The Class of 1991 continues the tradition of senior classes leaving the University a gift as a remembrance of their Carolina experience as they begin their lives as alumni.

In selecting the Academic Affairs Library as the recipient of its $355,000 gift, the Class of 1991 will greatly aid the entire University community, especially future students.

The gift will establish a permanent endowment to help the Academic Affairs Library purchase books and electronic information. The Academic Affairs Library includes the Walter R. Davis Library, the Louis Round Wilson Library, the Robert B. House Undergraduate Library, and nine other libraries in Academic Affairs departments.

"The University will benefit in perpetuity from the gift," University Librarian Dr. James Govan said.

In a classmate-to-classmate challenge during February, the Class of 1991 secured over $355,000 in pledges toward the gift. The amount is the largest student-funded gift ever raised at a U.S. University. A National Endowment for the Humanities grant will match one dollar for every four dollars collected, bringing the potential to $443,750. During the pledging period, 1,775 of the 3,626 seniors made pledges to give $200 during the next five years.

Since 1986, the cost of the Academic Affairs Library's serials' subscriptions and books has increased 41 percent and 30 percent respectively. During the same period, however, the library's budget has increased leas than five percent.

In recognition of the gift, the library will name the second floor study area in Davis Library in honor of the Class of 1991. In May 1996, a plaque bearing the names of 1991 graduates who fulfilled their pledges will be placed in the library. For those attending Commencement who would like to view Davis Library, it is located behind the Student Union.

CHARTERING THE UNIVERSITY

The first state constitution of North Carolina, ratified in 1776, contained the following provision: "All useful learning shall be encouraged and promoted in one or more universities."

But the University was slow in coming. A bill introduced in the state legislature in 1784 to establish "North Carolina University" was defeated, largely because many people feared that such an institution could become an aristocratic bastion against the state's common people. Similar fears led North Carolinians to refuse to ratify the U.S. Constitution when the state first voted on it in 1788. There was the feeling that a strong central government, as specified by the Constitution, might endanger the rights and liberties of the common people.

Many state leaders therefore demanded that a Bill of Rights, guaranteeing those liberties, be added to the Constitution. Late in the summer of 1789, Congress passed the amendments that became the Bill of Rights, and on November 21, 1789, North Carolina delegates, meeting in Fayetteville, ratified the Constitution.

Meanwhile, at the same time the constitutional convention was meeting in Fayetteville, the state's General Assembly was meeting in the same town. William R. Davie, who had helped to write the U.S. Constitution and had urged his fellow North Carolinians to accept it, now turned his attention to higher education.

He introduced into the legislature a bill to establish and charter a University. In the preamble of the bill, Davie noted that, "in all well regulated Governments, it is the indispensable duty of every Legislature to consult the Happiness of a rising Generation, and endeavor to fit them for an honorable Discharge of the Social Duties of Life, by paying the strictest attention to their Education."

The Federalist spirit swept from one meeting to the other, and Davie's bill passed on December 11, 1789.

Criteria for Graduation with Honors

Students indicated as graduating with honors join some 3,000 Carolina alumni who since 1917 have successfully participated in the Senior Honors Program. The gowns of honors graduates are adorned with a gold honors cord. This year nearly 250 seniors participated in senior honors programs in 50 departments, curricula, and professional schools throughout the University.

Although the senior honors experience varies somewhat from major to major, most programs involve the design and execution of a significant research or creative project, conducted under the guidance of a faculty adviser, which results in an honors thesis. The completed thesis is defended before a faculty committee, and successful candidates are recommended for graduation with honors. To be eligible to begin senior honors, a student must have at least a 3.2 overall grade point average.

The additional accolade of graduation "with highest honors" singles out the exceptionally accomplished student and the thesis that exemplifies the highest possible level of undergraduate scholarship. Not every department recommends a candidate for "highest honors" each year.

The Senior Honors Program and the honors curriculum for freshmen, sophomores and juniors are administered by the Office of Honors in The College of Arts and Sciences.

The Honors Program at UNC-Chapel Hill

The Honors Program reflects the University's commitment to provide an especially challenging academic experience for its most able undergraduate students. The honors curriculum involves freshmen, sophomores, and juniors in more than one hundred courses each year. Senior students may participate in the Senior Honors Program. Honors sections of departmental course offerings and seminars include topics ranging from Southern literature to Japanese culture.

Each year some 250 students in 50 departments, curricula, and professional schools throughout the University work under close faculty supervision on a research or creative project leading to an honors thesis. Defended before a committee of the student's major department, the thesis forms the basis for graduation "with Honors" or "with Highest Honors."

The quality of work produced by senior honors students is extraordinary. For example, roughly half of all biology honors theses result in scholarly publication. Since the 1920s, graduating "with honors" at Carolina has meant that a student has devised a significant research or creative project, skillfully executed that project, and has been held to the highest standards of undergraduate accomplishment by faculty experts in their field.

The hallmarks of the program are inclusiveness and permeability. Some students enter the program as first-semester freshmen. Others apply to join the program in the spring of their freshman or sophomore years. Generally speaking, any rising senior with at least a 3.2 overall GPA is eligible to participate in Senior Honors. Honors courses are open to all undergraduates who have a B average.

With 600 freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, another 200-300 students taking an occasional honors course, and 250 seniors conducting thesis research, the Honors Program serves more than 1,000 students each year out of 14,500 undergraduates. UNC-Chapel Hill involves a higher proportion of undergraduates in Honors than any other major research university in the country.

Students graduating with honors this year join over 3,000 Carolina alumni who share the senior thesis experience. They are proof that at Carolina the terms "undergraduate excellence" and "research" definitely are not mutually exclusive.

Commencement Tassle

Commencement 1991 is distinguished by occurring in the 202nd year of the University's charter. Graduates in 1991 can look to the University's past and still maintain a vision of their Alma Mater's success during its third century.

Students awarded degrees beginning in 1989 wear a special tassle as part of their academic attire. The official seal of the University's Bicentennial Observance is attached to the clip which holds the tassle.

Although the official Bicentennial Observance begins in October 1993 and concludes in May 1994, the special tassle commemorates the unique place in Carolina's history of those receiving degrees in 1991.

The seal of the Bicentennial Observance is adapted from an 1814 paper cutting by Frances Jones Hooper. The original silhouette, on display in the Southern Historical Collection of Wilson Library, is one of the earliest representations of The University of North Carolina campus.

THE GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

On May 31, 1843, thirty-one graduates of the University, ranging in classes from 1801 to 1842, met at Commencement and laid the framework for a permanent alumni organization. Governor John Motley Morehead, Class of 1817, then Governor of North Carolina, was called to the chair.

In 1844, the Association's constitution was adopted and declared the purpose of the organization to be: "to perpetuate the friendships formed in collegiate years, to promote the welfare of alma mater, and to promote the cause of education generally."

The Association was revitalized in 1912 by Walter ("Pete") Murphy and others and began publishing The Alumni Review.

Independent of the University, the General Alumni Association continues to serve both its alumni and the University. The Association's programs, activities and publications are funded from dues paid by its more than 50,000 members.

Now maintaining records for more than 170,000 living alumni, the Association is the lifeline between alumni and the University.

Through its 56 alumni chapters in North Carolina and 77 chapters outside of the state, the Association sponsors programs and activities designed to keep alumni informed about the University while providing them with the opportunity to "perpetuate the friendships formed in collegiate years."

WILLIAM RICHARDSON DAVIE

Born in England in 1756, William Richardson Davie moved when he was about eight years old to the Waxhaws near the North Carolina-South Carolina border. He received his collegiate education at the College of New Jersey (later Princeton), and in 1776 he became a military leader in the American Revolution. After the war Davie practiced law in Halifax and at age 30, he entered upon a career of public service.

An ardent Federalist, Davie began in 1789 working for North Carolina's ratification of the U.S. Constitution as well as for the chartering of The University of North Carolina. Not only was Davie influential in guiding the University's charter through the legislature that year, but he also helped to pick the location for the campus, proposed legislation for setting up funding for the University, and played a large role in determining the faculty and courses of study.

"Davie was not an educator by profession," wrote Archibald Henderson, "but he grasped the cardinal fact that the training of leaders in public life for solving the many complex tasks in the new republic could be accomplished, in the long run, only through the establishment of. . .a state university."

During most of the 1790s, Davie was Grand Master of the state's Masons. Hence the laying of the cornerstone of Old East on October 12, 1793, was a Masonic ceremony. Davie died in 1820.

He introduced into the legislature a bill to establish and charter a University. In the preamble of the bill, Davie noted that, "in all well regulated Governments, it is the indispensable duty of every Legislature to consult the Happiness of a rising Generation, and endeavor to fit them for an honorable Discharge of the Social Duties of Life, by paying the strictest attention to their Education."

The Federalist spirit swept from one meeting to the other, and Davie's bill passed on December 11, 1789.

Doctors of Education

Carol Gaskins Lewis, Administration and Supervision, The School Library Media Program and Its Role in the Middle School: A Study of the Perceptions of North Carolina Middle School Principals and Media Coordinators. (Dr. Julius R. George).

Ronald I. Nanney, Administration and Supervision, Perceptions of Student Teacher Interns, Cooperating Public School Teachers, and College Education Faculty Relative to Pre-service Teacher Training. (Dr. Kinnard White).

John Marion Owens, Administration and Supervision, Teachers' Perceptions of a Program Designed to Professionalize Their Work Environment. (Dr. George W. Noblit).

Neil C. Wortman, Administration and Supervision, The Relationship Between Bureaucratization and Effectiveness in Secondary Schools. (Dr. Julius R. George).

Doctors of Philosophy

David Johnson Abbott, Physics, An Investigation of the Deuteron-Nucleus Tensor Interaction in $^{90}Zr(\vec{d},\vec{d})^{90}Zr$ Elastic Scattering. (Dr. Hugon J. Karwowski).

Robert Nelson Anderson III, Romance Languages, Theatrical Semiosis in the Drama of Gianfrancesco Guarnieri. (Dr. Fred M. Clark).

Ruth Aletha Andrew, English, An Annotated Bibliography and Study of the Contemporary Criticism of Tennyson's Idylls of The King: 1859-1886. (Dr. Harold I. Shapiro).

John William Andrews, Chemistry, Design, Construction, and Operation of an In-situ, Spectroscopic Ellipsometer as a Process Monitoring Instrument. (Dr. Eugene A. Irene).

David Joseph Ballard, Epidemiology, Selection in Referral for Medical Care: Impact on Assessment of Clinical Spectrum and Survival in Diabetes Mellitus. (Dr. Gerardo Heiss).

Douglas Andrew Bayliss, Physiology, Central nervous system mechanisms that mediate steroid hormone effects on respiration. (Dr. David E. Millhorn).

Malika Benhenni, Physics, Angular Distributions of Projectile Auger Electrons Emitted Following Resonant and Nonresonant Electron Transfer and Excitation and Other Processes. (Dr. Stephen M. Shafroth).

Joel Alan Boyette, Political Science, An Exploratory Analysis of Gubernatorial Campaign Spending: A Case Study Approach. (Dr. Thad L. Beyle).

Gregg W. Buongiorno, Psychology, Cognitive Distortion and Intention to Engage in Protective Behavior in Response to Communication About Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome. (Dr. Vaida D. Thompson).

Lisa Diane Carson, Classics, Song in Vergil's Eclogues. (Dr. Sara Mack).

Hee-Kyung Jeanie Chung, Chemistry, Purification and Characterization of Bovine Liver Mitochondrial Translocase. (Dr. Linda L. Spremulli).

Dennis A. Clements, Epidemiology, Risk Factors for Haemophilus Influenzae Type b Disease in Victoria, Australia. (Dr. Kristen Weigle).

Darrel James Conway, Physics, Numerical Models of Equilibrium between Matter and Black Holes. (Dr. James W. York, Jr.).

Daria Paul Courtney, Educational Psychology, The Relations Between Ego Development and Motivational Orientations in African-American Adolescents. (Dr. Judith L. Meece).

Glynis Smith Cowell, Curriculum and Instruction, A Study of the Foreign Language in the Elementary School (FLES) Programs in North Carolina. (Dr. Jill Fitzgerald).

Ann Roach Crawford, Curriculum and Instruction, Secondary Mathematics Teachers' Beliefs and Instructional Practices Related to the NCTM Curriculum and Evaluation Standards For School Mathematics. (Dr. Hunter Ballew).

Lucye Gray Davis, Health Policy Analysis and Administration, Identification of Pregnant Women at Risk of Herpes Infections at Delivery. (Dr. Arnold D. Kaluzny).

Ruth de Bliek, Curriculum and Instruction, Expertise and Case Representation in Pediatrics. (Dr. Charles P. Friedman).

James Dennis Doyle, Biology, Systematics of the Opuntia humifusa Complex. (Dr. Jimmy R. Massey).

Richard William Duesing, Jr., Chemistry, Control of electron transfer in transition metal polypyridyl complexes. (Dr. T. J. Meyer).

Dominique Duvert, Comparative Literature, The Tragedy of Language: An Application of Artaud's Criticism of the Dramatic Text to Shakespeare's Coriolanus, Moliere's Dom Juan, and Calderon's La vida es sueno. (Dr. Jean-Michel Heimonet).

Cynthia Allen Edwards, Psychology, Leadership, Social Networks, and Personal Attributes in School Age Girls. (Dr. Robert B. Cairns).

Leslie Carol Einhorn, Neurobiology, D_2 Dopamine Receptor Activation of a G Protein Coupled Potassium Channel in Rat Lactotrophs. (Dr. Gerry S. Oxford).

Jennifer Joan Elam, School Psychology, Correlates of Early Intervention Team Effectiveness. (Drs. John Brantley and Donald Bailey).

Nancy Borel Ellis, Sociology, Impact of Parent-Child Relations on the Rate of Children's Pubertal Change. (Dr. J. Richard Udry).

Shaoguang Feng, Chemistry, Reactions of Tp' Tungsten (II) Alkyne Complexes. (Dr. Joseph L. Templeton).

Marcia Elaine Fields, Special Education, Social Understanding of Externalizing and Internalizing Boys in Residential Treatment. (Dr. Rune J. Simeonsson).

Lucy Kathryn Flagler, Psychology, Personality Differences among High-Achieving Gifted Adolescents: An Exploratory Study of a New Typology. (Dr. William Grant Dahlstrom).

Mark Damien Flood, Business Administration, Market Structure and Inefficiency in the Foreign Exchange Market. (Drs. Mustafa Gultekin and Mark Flannery).

Edward Michael Foster, Economics, Childhood Poverty and the Underclass: Unraveling the Effects of Constraints and Preferences. (Dr. Boone A. Turchi).

Ketwin Crayton Foster, Chemistry, Molecular Dynamics Simulation of Water between Platinum Walls. (Dr. Max L. Berkowitz).

MacGregor S. Frank, English, Every Latent Double: A Psychoanalytic Reading of Wallace Stevens' Poetry, 1899-1923. (Dr. George S. Lensing).

James Lee Franklin, Physiology, Long-term Regulation of the Ionic Currents of Rat Myenteric Neurons in Culture by Chronic Changes of Membrane Potential. (Dr. A. L. Willard).

Eve Ann Gallman, Physiology, Neuronal adaptation of the respiratory control system to central hypoxia. (Dr. David E. Millhorn).

Patricia Jeney Gammon, Psychology, Life events, social support, and family factors as predictors of children's levels of anxiety, depression, and conduct problems. (Dr. Barclay Martin).

Wenyi Gao, Pharmacology, Phosphorothioate Oligodeoxynucleotide and Herpes Simplex Virus Type 2. (Dr. Yung-Chi Cheng).

Kevin James Gilligan, Microbiology and Immunology, Transcription of the Epstein-Barr Virus in Human Epithelium: Implications for Neoplasia. (Dr. Nancy Raab-Traub).

Degree candidates' names are followed by their area of major study, dissertation or project title, and the name of their doctoral adviser.

John Irvin Glass, Genetics, Nucleocapsid protein mutants of vesicular stomatitis virus: Analysis and location of functional defects. (Dr. Gail W. Wertz).

Duk-Young Han, Physics, An NMR Study of B^{11} in BN, BP, B_4C and Boron-doped Silicon. (Dr. Horst Kessemeier).

Taisook Han, Computer Science, A New Class of Recursive Routing Algorithms on Mesh-connected Computers. (Dr. Donald F. Stanat).

John Roberts Harris, English, 'The Playing of Different Natures:' Keats's Wordsworthian Experiments in the Narrative of "New Romance." (Dr. Robert Kirkpatrick).

Michael Heinz Hoppe, Adult and Higher, A Comparative Study of Country Elites: International Differences in Work-Related Values and Learning and their Implications for Management Training and Development. (Dr. Eugene R. Watson).

Marybeth Howard, Microbiology and Immunology, The protein requirements for vesicular stomatitis virus RNA replication: A role for the major phosphoprotein and its interaction with the nucleocapsid protein. (Dr. Gail W. Wertz).

Charles Glenn Humble, Epidemiology, Nutritional Fibers and Coronary Heart Disease Risk in Hypercholesterolemic Men. (Dr. Herman A. Tyroler).

Anita Iverson, Psychology, Parents' beliefs and parenting behavior. (Dr. Donald H. Baucom).

Woan-Jue Jeng, Educational Psychology, Construct Validity of a Self-Report Measure of School Skills—A Chinese Version for Early Adolescents. (Dr. Kinnard P. White).

Esther M. John, Epidemiology, Spontaneous abortions among cosmetologists. (Dr. David A. Savitz).

Jack Dennis Kartez, City and Regional Planning, Adaptive Planning for Local Industrial Toxic Chemical Hazards: Early Implementation of SARA Title III. (Dr. Raymond J. Burby).

Sang-Kwon Kim, Economics, Monpoly Hypothesis vs. Efficiency Hypothesis in Mergers. (Dr. John F. Stewart).

Seok-Yun Kim, Marine Sciences, Physical Processes and Fine-Grained Sediment Dynamics in the Neuse River Estuary, North Carolina. (Dr. John T. Wells).

Susan June Leete, School Psychology, Sex Differences in Sociometric Choices of Kindergarten Children. (Dr. Barbara H. Wasik).

Lori Ann Lipkin, Physics, Hole Trapping Phenomena in Silicon Dioxide Gate Insulators. (Drs. Arnold Reisman and Larry Rowan).

Timothy Walter Lovenberg, Pharmacology, D-dopamine receptor stimulated adenylate cyclase activity in NS20Y neuroblastoma cells: Mechanisms of activation and regulation. (Dr. Richard Mailman).

Lan Ma, Chemistry, Purification and Characterization of Complex Forms of Chloroplast Translational Initiation Factor 2 from Euglena gracilis. (Dr. Linda L. Spremulli).

Mubiana Macwan'gi, Health Behavior and Health Education, Effects of Husband-Wife Communication on Family Planning Intentions and Behavior: A Cross-Sectional Study of Husbands and Wives Living in Union in Lusaka, Zambia. (Dr. Eugenia Eng).

Polk Place

Early in the 1920s, the Committee on the Development of University Property recommended that the area south of South Building—mostly undeveloped at the time—should be laid out in a quadrangle similar to the area north of South Building. The two areas would be known as "South Quadrangle" (between South Building and Wilson Library) and "North Quadrangle" (between the Old Well and Franklin Street.)

In June 1941, the University's Board of Trustees voted to rename North Quadrangle "McCorkle Place" honoring Samuel E. McCorkle, a founder of the University. At the same time, South Quadrangle became "Polk Place," named for James Knox Polk, Class of 1818, the only UNC graduate to date to become a U.S. President. Polk's dormitory room, on the southwest corner of the third floor of South Building, overlooked the area that today bears his name.

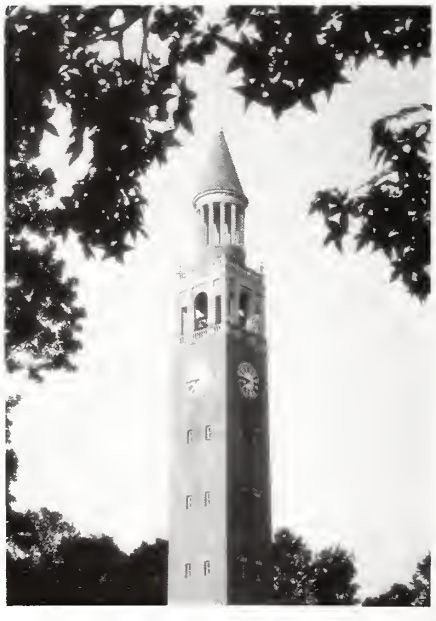
Morehead-Patterson Bell Tower

Every hour of the day the ringing of bells reminds students and faculty of the generosity of two families associated with the University since its earliest days.

John Motley Morehead, class of 1891, first presented a proposal for a bell tower to University President Harry Woodburn Chase in the early 1920s. During this post-war building boom the University remodeled South Building, one of the school's oldest structures. Morehead offered to pay for a bell tower to be placed on top of the old building. The administration declined his offer, seeking to keep the historical integrity of the building.

In 1926, campus officials drew up preliminary plans for what would become Wilson Library. Morehead thought that the roof of this building would be ideal for his bell tower. Louis Round Wilson, the University Librarian, had already decided that his building should be domed. Business giant and librarian faced off, and the former went elsewhere in search of bell tower space. When the University trustees decided to move the flagpole from McCorkle Place to Polk Place, Morehead suggested a bell tower, this time with Old Glory waving from its top. The administration again declined to accept his offer.

By this time, Morehead had decided to enlarge his project and enlisted the aid of Rufus Lenoir Patterson II. Finally the University and the two families agreed on a site behind Wilson Library for the bell tower.



Rising 167 feet, the Morehead-Patterson Bell Tower is surrounded by a hedge and lawn designed by William C. Coker, botany professor and creator of the campus Arboretum. The tower's belfry once contained a carillon of twelve manually operated bells; now there are ten mechanized ones. The largest bell is inscribed "Governor John Motley Morehead," the tower creator's grandfather, and the second largest bears the name of William Lenoir. Both men played a prominent role in the University's and State's history. Inside the porch-like structure at the tower's base, called the arcade, are plaques honoring other members of the two families.
